Hoffman Visits Bruno's Attic to Check Ladder Evidence

TESTS MADE FOR PARDON HEARING

Examination Brings No Conclusions, States New Jersey Governor

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 26.—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey spent almost five hours in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's Bronx home today, checking evidence connecting the convicted Lindbergh kidnaper with the kidnap ladder. The examination was not conclusive, the governor said.

"We have been looking at the wood and no conclusion can be drawn until we make further tests," he declared as he left the house.

The governor with his aides, and Attorney General David T. Wilentz and prosecution officials had been busy in the Hauptmann house from 9 a. m. until 1:40 p. m.

Checks Testimony

The primary reason for the governor's visit to the two-family house in the Bronx was to check on the prosecution testimony at the Hauptmann trial that the four nail holes found in rail 16 of the kidnap ladder fitted exactly with nail holes in the Hauptmann attic joists where the state claims that rail originally was nailed down.

The governor was represented as desirous of having this evidence carefully checked so that a report of his examination would have a report of his examination when it considers Hauptmann's second appeal for clemency in the next few days. Hauptmann has been sentenced to die in the electric chair Tuesday night.

Says Bruno Innocent

Paul G. Clancy, publisher of an astrology magazine which is financing an investigation of the kidnaping in Hauptmann's behalf, made public a statement from Gaston B. Means, who is in federal prison on conviction of having misled Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of Washington of $104,000 in spurious ransom negotiations.

The statement, as given out by Clancy, declares Hauptmann is innocent and that Means himself made the kidnap ladder.

SHIPS COLLIDE; FEAR 9 LOST

SKEGNESS, Lincolnshire, Eng., March 26. (AP)—The French S. S. Boree went down today 20 miles off the coast with the probable loss of nine lives after colliding with an unidentified ship.

The captain of the Spanish steamer Alzakarai Mendi later reported that his ship was the one which collided with the Boree. Rescue vessels picked up 13 survivors of a crew of 22. The captain, among those rescued, said there was a dense fog at the time of the collision. The Boree was carrying a cargo of coal.

Girl Stripped, Burned by Men

RICHMOND, Va., March 26. (AP)—A 23-year-old girl's story of having been stripped of her clothes and tortured with fire, was disclosed today as police ordered four young men to a court hearing.

The youths arrested on the girl's accusation were booked as James Brooks, 23, Oliver Darden, 25, Stephen Bohannon, 25, and Samuel Overby, 26.

Their accuser said they held her captive for hours last Saturday night in a secluded glen, beat her,

Pay Dirt at Old Blue Light!

Silverado Canyon Silver Boom Recalled

By ROCH BRADSHAW

"They've found pay dirt at the Blue Light mine"

More than 50 years ago the news that precious silver was hidden in the rocks of Silverado canyon started a stampede of California miners to the canyons and hills east of Orange. The towns of Silverado and Carbondale sprang up almost overnight—mining towns with saloons, and rough, carefree miners in whose hearts the eternal hope of riches burned like fire.

Today they've found pay dirt at the Blue Light mine in the Silverado canyon again. The report has come out of the hills that Jack Pember and his brother, O. H. Pember, of Anaheim, have struck it rich again. They've uncovered a vein of the real stuff, it is claimed, the concentrate of which will assay $1,000 a ton. The Pember brothers have leased the Blue Light mine from an organization at Torrance.

The Silverado hills have never made any man fabulously rich. In the old days the veins pinched out. The miners picked up their tools and departed. The echoes of their voices died out in the hills. Peace and quiet settled over the region again.

But every few years someone went back. At intervals reports came down that someone had struck pay dirt and was going to reopen one of the old tunnels. The Blue Light mine, one of the most successful in the old days, has received a great deal of this attention. Now it is in the limelight again. Will it pay out and lure another rush of miners to the Silverado hills?

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, in a paper written for the Orange County Historical society and published in 1929, recalled the history of Silverado and Carbondale—ghost towns.

At that time some of the buildings of Silverado were still standing, but Carbondale had vanished utterly.

The first discovery in this region was made by Hank Smith and William Curry of Santa Ana, in 1877. They started a tunnel and called their mine the Southern Belle. Later they started another, called the Santa Clara. A Los Angeles newspaper published news of their discovery and a rush started. Soon 300 locations had been staked out.

The town of Silverado, located at the forks where Pine canyon enters Silverado canyon, at one time had a population of perhaps 500. Some estimates said the two villages had 1500 miners swarming their "streets." There were houses, stores, postoffices, saloons—even a stamp mill was built.

If ore was not plentiful, deer were. Ike Harding and Cash Harvey, Mr. Stephenson recalled, shot deer and sold the meat to the miners. Once they got six deer with six shots. They sold the meat for $36, keeping the hide and horns.

Regular stages ran from Santa Ana to Silverado. Miners were coming and going. Food and supplies came in. Things went along at a pretty fast clip for awhile. But it couldn't last. The ore wasn't there. The miners began to drift away. The boom faded about 1883. For years afterward a mail route was maintained to Silverado, but a few years ago that, too, was discontinued. Today the canyon is filled with mountain cabins. If a mining boom starts, none of the old-timers expect another rush up there. The hills have been pretty well combed over. But the Pember brothers hope the Blue Light will pay—in a big way.

Reprieve Denied Officer's Slayer

SACRAMENTO, March 26. (AP)—Governor Merriam today denied a reprieve to George Hall, who is to be hanged tomorrow at Folsom prison for the killing of Steve Kent, state highway patrol officer at Yreka, March 10, 1933.

The reprieve was requested orally by S. Luke Howe, attorney for Mrs. Hall who is to be arraigned in superior court here Saturday on charges of attempting to smuggle guns into the prison to her husband.

Silvia Sidney, dark-eyed petite movie actress, today started a divorce suit in Los Angeles against her new husband, Bennett Cerf, New York publisher. Miss Sidney alleged that since the couple eloped to Phoenix, Ariz., last Oct. 1, Mr. Cerf quarreled with her over the amount of time she gave to her picture work. Mr. Cerf "didn't understand" movie people, the complaint said, and other instances of incompatibility arose that finally led the actress to become very nervous. They separated Jan. 2. BORAH QUILTS REGISTRATION RACE HERE ENDS AT 9:30

Idaho Senator Not to County Clerk's Office Will Remain Open For Late Comers

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP)—Senator Borah decided today not to enter the California Republican presidential preference primary because it would be impossible for him to campaign in that state.

"My friends think I ought not to do so unless I can spend at least a week in California," he told reporters.

"In view of the Illinois and Ohio situations—where I have already entered—that would be utterly impossible."

POLITICAL SETUP TAKES DEFINITE FORM

SACRAMENTO, (TO, March 26. (AP)—California's political setup for the May 5 presidential primary took definite form today with the announcement by Senator Borah he will not file in this state.

Complexities in the state election laws make it possible for filing with county clerks up to today to be kept under cover for a few days, but it is virtually assured all intended candidacies have been disclosed. The primary now shapes up as a two-way split in Republican forces and a three-way battle on the Democratic side.

The Republican groups are those of the uninstructed delegations nominally pledged to Earl Warren, Republican state chairman, and the Governor Landon ticket endorsed by Governor Merriam but neither accepted nor repudiated by the Kansans.

All three Democratic slates have been announced as favoring the renomination of President Roosevelt. The Democratic tickets are those printed by Senator McAdoo, Congressman John McGroarty and Upton Sinclair. President Roosevelt has endorsed the McAdoo slate. The McGroarty delegates have endorsed the Townsend old age pension plan, but have declared for Roosevelt. Sinclair's slate is nominally pledged to him for President.

Three Convicted In Bonds Case

LOS ANGELES, March 26. (AP)—A federal court jury convicted three men today of conspiracy to bring to Los Angeles and dispose of $48,000 in bonds stolen from Miss Nellie Covert, wealthy spinster of Tucson, Ariz.

The three are John F. Myres, Phoenix business man; his nephew, George J. Myres of Los Angeles, and Thomas B. Ryan.

F. D. R. Begins to Fish in Earnest

MIAMI, Fla., March 26. (AP)—Fishing has begun in earnest for President Roosevelt and his companions far out in the Atlantic off Great Inagua island, and with the sun beating down brilliantly on the southern waters reports of sunburn are expected soon.

The blue and white presidential flag was hoisted on the U. S. S. Potomac yesterday afternoon at Matthews town for the first time as Mr. Roosevelt boarded the small, new presidential ship of the navy.

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP)

Testimony that the Townsend old age pension organization had an income of $43,295 during the first 10 months of its existence was given by a congressional investigating committee today by Robert E. Clements, resigned national secretary.

The co-founder of the organization was still on the witness stand when the committee recessed to send for more records late today. James R. Sullivan, special committee prosecutor, was pressing his questions on the revenue and bank deposits of the Old Age Revolving Pensions, Inc., of which Dr. F. E. Townsend is president. The organization was incorporated in January, 1934.

Deposited in Long Beach

Clements said he personally had collected no money for the organization nor had he received any as donations or from the sale of Townsend literature.

Clements said the $43,295 on deposits in the Citizens State bank of Long Beach, Calif., was left there when the Townsend organization moved to Los Angeles about the first of December, 1934.

He testified the account in the Long Beach bank was not opened coincident with the opening of the first Townsend office in Long Beach, Jan. 15, 1934. The account, he indicated, was opened after the first of February.

Dr. Townsend "Brilliant"

Clements said he did not know how much was taken in before the opening of the bank account but Dr. Townsend had received some money from the sale of literature and from voluntary contributions.

"I did not devote my entire time to the Townsend movement until March, or April, in 1934," he testified.

Dr. Townsend, with whom he has split because of "differences," was termed "a brilliant man and a physician of note" by Clements.

A throng of spectators crowded a big capitol caucus room as the 41-year-old Californian began testimony.

He said he knew of no grounds for statements on the house floor and in the Townsend Weekly that "back-alley" tactics have been used in the inquiry.

FLOOD DANGER SUBSIDES

By The Associated Press

The danger of renewed widespread flood devastation along the Ohio river subsided today. Down the valley from Pittsburgh the Ohio was rising. But river men said its crest would be far below the disastrous levels reached last week.

As rehabilitation work was pushed steadily throughout the desolated Eastern areas, the death toll from more than a week of floods and storms in the East, South and West mounted to 201.

At Cincinnati the situation was falling slowly but steadily. The danger there was expected to be past before the new flood crest could reach the Cincinnati area.

In testifying today, Mr. Clements said Midway City was one of a number of towns he had promoted in Southern California.

CROPS IN CALIFORNIA DAMAGED BY FREEZING TEMPERATURES

CITRUS BELT REPORTS NO LOSSES

Grapes, Peaches, Other Fruits in Northern Sections Suffer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26. (AP)—Crops throughout California were damaged by freezing temperatures, agriculturists reported today, but state officials said it was too early to estimate the loss.

Smudge pots burned in fruit districts and the weather bureau issued a warning to orchardists that low temperatures would continue. Wheat and barley crops at Imperial valley in Southern California were damaged by cold and winds, B. A. Harrigan, county agricultural commissioner, said.

Grapefruit Injured
Young grapefruit were injured and tomato and asparagus shipments were retarded.

In the citrus belt the temperature hovered around 32 or higher but no damage was reported. Snow capped all Southern California mountains.

A mild wind helped prevent killing frosts in most sections of Stanislaus, Merced and San Joaquin counties today, averting anticipated high damage. The loss spotted, mostly in the river bottoms, with slight losses in some upland orchards and vineyards.

Grape Damage Heavy
C. H. Kingsley, agricultural commissioner of Merced county, said yesterday's frost caused damage to Thompson seedless grapes in that county ranging as high as 70 per cent. The loss on wine grapes was placed at 25 per cent.

The peach crop in Sutter and Yuba counties also suffered, but the extent of the damage had not been determined.

Kern county frost damage was not as bad as expected, said L. A. Burch, agricultural commissioner. The greatest damage was believed to have occurred in the Tehachapi pea crop, which was in blossom with eight inches of snow on the ground and the orchard heaters going the last two nights.

A hail storm earlier in the week did more damage than the frost by battering plum, apricot, peaches and grapes in some areas.

Cattlemen, however, were pleased by the rains and the prospect of good range feed.

WARMER WEATHER IN COUNTY TONIGHT
Orange county citrus growers can sleep more restfully tonight. Warmer weather was forecast today by the government meteorological station at Pomona, according to information received here by Farm Adviser Harold Wahlberg. The cold wave seems to have been broken, he said.

Temperature forecast probably will be broadcast over KNX at 8 p. m., Mr. Wahlberg said. He explained that the regular schedule of frost warnings ended March 15, but that temperatures are still put on the air on nights which are likely to be dangerous.

Any damage that may have occurred during last night's cold snap was very slight, Mr. Wahlberg said. In some low spots of the La Habra valley heaters were fired. The temperature in these locations got down to 29 degrees. In some other places in the county the low temperature was 30 degrees last night.

RULES ON FEES FOR LAWYER

An attorney is entitled to $2500 for mediating $500,000 worth of debts, even when he is not entirely successful, Superior Judge H. G. Ames ruled Tuesday afternoon.

A decision of the court granted $2500 to Eugene I. Gottlieb, Los Angeles attorney, for representing the Rev. Charles Fuller, former Placentia pastor, in negotiations with the Rev. Mr. Fuller's creditors.

The Rev. Mr. Fuller had sued to recover a $10,000 deed of trust granted Mr. Gottlieb as security for fees in the case. Mr. Gottlieb's fee amounted to slightly more than the $10,000.

The trust deed was ordered vacated by Judge Ames after a six-day trial, with the above fee granted the defendant. Costs advanced by Mr. Gottlieb of $281.03 also were allowed.

BRUNO'S CHANCES REST WITH PAROLE BOARD
TRENTON, N. J., March 26. (AP)—With little prospect of executive intervention, Bruno Richard Hauptmann's chances of escaping execution next Tuesday night rested today with the parole board and the judge who sentenced him to death.

Quentin T. Hoffman, a member of the court, planned to consult Chancellor Luther A. Campbell today on the advisability of a hearing on the convicted slayer's new plea for clemency.

Should the court turn thumbs down on the convicted Lindbergh kidnaper, as it did two and a half months ago, judicial intervention remained his only hope and appeared remote.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz's most recent comment on the case was that its status has not changed and there is no reason why Hauptmann should escape.

Awnings Burn at Register Building

Quick action by Business Manager Clarence Hoiles of the Santa Ana Register and Fire Chief John Luxembourger at 9:05 a. m. today averted what might have developed into a dangerous fire at the Register building, Third and Sycamore streets.

Two large sidewalk awnings burst into flame from a cigarette butt, according to a fire department report, and endangered the structure. Mr. Hoiles and Fire Chief Luxembourger, who happened to be driving by at the time, quenched the blaze with hand extinguishers after damage estimated at $50 had resulted.

Civic Leaders Indorse Idea For 50th Birthday Party

"Certainly Santa Ana ought to golden anniversary May 20 was revived.

Such was the reaction of civic and business leaders today, as the idea of a celebration for the city's golden anniversary May was revived.

"I think it's a good thing to have a birthday party now and then, to check up on yourself," said Stanley Goode, Rotary club president. "It's a good thing to check up on the past of our city, too. I'm for it."

"It's a splendid idea," commented Councilman Plummer Bruns. "A very worth-while birthday celebration could be worked out, and it would be an appropriate thing to do. It could be financed by the city, since everyone in the city would participate."

"I think those things are always good," remarked C. W. Harrison, Lions club president. "Any publicity of this sort would be worth while."

Dr. Melbourne Mabce, president of the Kiwanis club, said he would take steps immediately to bring the idea before the board of directors of the club at its next meeting.

LABOR PROBE IS ASKED BY MEXICANS

Lucas Lucio, local representative of the Mexican consul's office at Los Angeles, said today that a communication had been directed to the state department of industrial relations, asking an investigation of alleged contract labor practices and housing conditions for Mexican farm laborers in Orange and other counties.

The communication was signed by Mr. Lucio, Esteban Muniz, secretary-general of the Orange county unit of the Federation of Agricultural Laborers of Southern California, and by William Velarde, representing the Confederated Union of Mexican Agricultural Laborers. The message went to the consul general at San Francisco, who was requested to transmit it to the state department of industrial relations.

A practical system of peonage exists under the contract labor system, the document said. It asserted that Mexican laborers are forced in some cases to patronize certain stores, and live in prescribed quarters at high rent.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

first approached him with a pension plan in the fall of 1933 and the organization was incorporated in California, Jan. 24, 1934.

Says Books All Right
The western region of the Townsend organization was started about June, 1935, he added, and the eastern and southern regions the following month.

He denied that the Townsend books were in a "muddle" and "unintelligible" prior to July 1, 1935. He said the books never were in a "mess."

Clements rocked back and forth in his chair, his hands folded in front of him, as he testified as to his activities in the real estate business in California.

He said it was not necessarily true that his Long Beach real estate business was largely with farm people who had come from the middle west. Much of it, he added, involved loans to finance orange groves.

"Did you promote any of the small villages in the vicinity of Long Beach and Los Angeles?" asked Sullivan.

"I did," Clements said, explaining he was particularly interested in the promotion of a place called Midway City, with a man named John S. Harper, from Nevada, Mo.

Harper was head of the organization, the witness said, and he himself was sales manager, being paid on a commission basis.

"How much money did you accumulate on your promotions of Midway City from 1926 to 1929?" Sullivan asked.

"I couldn't tell you without going back into considerable records," Clements said.

The investigating committee was named after the house heard charges that old age pension organizations had collected large sums in nickels and dimes from old people for "fantastic" schemes. The committee intends to pay special attention to the financial aspects of the Townsend drive.

Dr. Townsend, once an obscure physician in Long Beach, Calif., is expected to be an early witness. Townsendites say the idea of $200 a month pensions financed by a 2 per cent tax on all transactions came to him while he was shaving one morning in Long Beach. He looked out the window and saw three old women collecting scraps from garbage cans. Soon afterward he began distributing his old age pensions pamphlet with results which, he said, "surprised" even him.

Investigators indicated they wanted more information about the split between him and Clements. The latter has ascribed his resignation to differences over policies and political activities.

Eye November Votes
Congress, with its eye on the November elections, is concerned with the political ramifications of the inquiry. The Townsend organization has announced its members will support candidates pledged to the Townsend plan, regardless of party affiliation.

Several of them privately expressed the hope the committee's findings would provide them with campaign ammunition and answers to Townsendite arguments in their districts.

Townsendites in the house have not opposed the inquiry but they did protest voting $50,000 for expenses on the grounds the amount was excessive and the committee would produce no definite results.

DEATH DAMAGE TRIAL OPENS

Echoes of the tragic death on last July 5 of Edith Anna, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Evans, who was drowned when she fell into an Anaheim Union Water Company canal in Yorba Linda, were heard this morning in superior court.

The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Evans' suit opened today against the water company, asking $5000 damages for the death of their daughter and $64.87 expenses for her funeral. The case is being heard before Superior Judge O. K. Morton of Riverside county.

The Evanses asserted that the canal is improperly protected at the spot where Edith Anna tumbled in, and had no guard, rail or fence about it. There was four feet of water in the 12-foot-wide canal at the time of the accident. The water company in its answer to the complaint charges that

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: Sidewalk opinion seems divided on the outcome of the David Lamson trial, even as the San Jose jury has disagreed.

But though sidewalk opinion doesn't have any bearing on the case, nearly all seem to doubt the probability of another trial. Yesterday I talked with one person recently from San Jose. He had attended previous trials part of the time, knows the prosecuting attorney, and is familiar with much of the evidence. He told me lots of interesting sidelights from the courtroom.

When asked how the San Jose people in general felt, he said, in part: "Well, I was there when that lynching party was held. Witnessed some of it. When the mob broke into the jail they asked for Lamson, too, and searched for him. His removal a few days previous saved him from being 'No. 3.'"

The perhaps "humorous" side to the case, is that the woman who Lamson was supposed to have wanted—and courted even before his wife's demise—married another man while he was in San Quentin, and later was a state witness in the case, testifying against him.

Ho hum! It is not for us to decide the case. We can only hope justice will prevail.

Yours for an acquittal or conviction, aroma... it's as much a part of Chesterfield as the taste

Did you ever notice the difference in the aroma of Chesterfield tobacco?

Every person who knows about tobacco will understand this... for to get a pleasing aroma is just like getting a pleasing taste from fruit.

Mild ripe tobaccos, home-grown, and welded with the right kind of tobacco from far-off Greece and Turkey (Samsoun, Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla)...

... that's why Chesterfield has a more pleasing aroma.

The Journal's

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

PERICLES STAVRON San Juan Capistrano youngster, was excited the other day. He was so excited that he could hardly wait to get to school to bring to his friends, according to a story trickling up from the mission pueblo via our friend, "Oke" Maxwell.

It was the day after the famous arrival of the swallows. "Perry" had been invited to tour the mission with Mrs. Rosita Hunn. To see the swallows nest, while the couple were strolling through the mission, a group of sightseers entered the garden and Father Hutchinson summoned Mrs. Hunn to guide the party through the ancient church.

As it was about dusk, the two came face-to-face with the visitors before recognizing the leader. It was Gov. Frank Merriam, who said that he wanted to pay the swallows a visit at their summer home.

Afterward, Perry was excitedly bragging about shaking hands with "The governor of the United States."

So now we imagine that Pericles Stavron really is somebody with his classmates. It isn't every schoolboy who can shake hands with the governor of the United States.

The next time we visit Capistrano, by the way, we're going to interview Ramon Yorba, our friend the pottery-maker, who has worked in the mission nearly all his life. He's going to have some explaining to do.

Because the other day metropolitan newspapers gave Ramon lots of publicity on his first visit to Los Angeles, and just a short time ago he told us about another visit he made—55 years ago.

And he also told us that he visits Santa Ana every year or so—just to keep in shape for traveling, no doubt. Ramon even went to San Diego, once.

Francis Sheridan, manager at the mission, told us recently that Ramon had been occupying a temporary job for the past 69 years. They're thinking of making it a permanent job, he said.

When we talked to the mission retainer, he wasn't so sure he wanted to see the metropolis again. Too many people, too many houses and too much noise, he explained. Los Angeles, at the time of his last visit, wasn't so much of a place, and he wasn't anxious to see any more of it, he declared.

We'll have to ask him what he thinks of the changes since he ran into L. A. the last time.

Well, we won't be bothered any more by fillings for city councilmen, clerks and treasurers. Time for such foolishness was up yesterday at noon.

We sorta checked up on things here and there yesterday. Mostly in Fullerton, where we discovered that they may have an interesting election after all.

Because two entries are out after the city clerk's job now held by our friend Fred Hezmalach. And seven men are seeking the three council seats.

Terms of Mayor Billy Hale, Ted Corcoran and T. K. Gowen expire. Ted isn't going to run again, but the mayor and Mr. Gowen are. Along with five others.

While we were walking by the city hall a little bird—no, not a swallow—whispered that Walter Muckenthaler, well known rancher and H. H. Kohlenberger, equally well known manufacturer of ice machines, will be two men to watch in the race. The bird seemed to know what he was talking about, too.

Over in Anaheim, City Clerk Charlie Griffith hasn't any opponents for his job. Last election, seven tried to get into the office. Says a thing or two for Charlie, doesn't it?

Also down at San Clemente, Bill Holmes has handled the clerk job so efficiently that nobody wants to get him out. Hurrah for 'em!

Looks like we jumped before looking on the seal question. Recently we agreed with others that an, or nearly all, seals should be sunk without warning, because of the damage they do to fish.

And now a baby seal waddles up on the sand at Huntington Beach, blinks fondly at passersby, and immediately gets adopted by the city.

Don't they know that isn't any way to treat a seal?

We'd go right down there and demand that they execute the potential destroyer of piscatorial prizes if it wasn't for the fact that we'd probably end up by asking to keep the little rascal at our house one week out of the month, or however long they'd spare him.

By the way, does anyone want a dog?

FIRE CLOSE FOR CITY OFFICES; MANY IN RUNNING

BEACHES ARE CENTERS OF INTEREST

H. B. Contest Watched; Women Seek Office In Two Cities

With closing of the date for filing for election to city offices in 12 Orange county municipalities at noon yesterday, residents of the communities learned the complete list of office seekers up for election April 14.

Interest of the county has centered upon the coming election campaign in Huntington Beach, where 12 candidates are seeking three seats on the board of trustees and the city treasurer and clerk will both have opposition for their positions.

In addition to election of officers, voters will decide upon either a $45,000 recreation hall or $16,000 band stand for the beach. The vote on this matter was necessary because of action by the state board of equalization when the city was not allowed to increase expenditures over 5 per cent of last year's budget.

Excitement at H. B. Residents seeking election to the council in Huntington Beach are A. Tovatt and Lee Chamness, incumbents; A. L. Hendrickson, Robert M. Marshall, Herbert A. Wood, A. W. Moorehouse, Carl M. Hill, Robert M. Hosmer, Solomon H. White, Eddie B. Stevens, Walter B. Dabney and Kim M. Holshack.

The Rev. Luther A. Arthur, Baptist pastor, will oppose the present city treasurer, Bayard Butcher, while C. W. Patrick, newspaperman, will oppose City Clerk Charles R. Furr in the election.

In Orange another spirited election is seen, with eight candidates seeking to fill two council positions. Filing up to noon yesterday were Mayor C. J. Hessel, Oscar Leichtfuss, H. Roy Perkins, A. C. Boice, Henry J. Bandick, C. M. Carlson, Karl F. Glasbrenner and Mike Elitiste. Four candidates are seeking the city treasurer's position, including Mrs. E. J. Pruitt, incumbent; Mrs. Pearl White, Mrs. Myrtle Bay and Mrs. Matilda Nehrdorff. City Clerk T. J. Elijah is unopposed.

Five File at Anaheim Anaheim residents will elect two councilmen from a field of five, including Mayor Charles H. Mann and Charles A. Pearson, incumbents; J. S. Kerr, John H. Matys and Carl Pressel. City Clerk Charles Griffith is unopposed, while William Dolan, former bank manager, will face City Treasurer Charles Boege in the race for that office.

Interest in the Seal Beach election centers around the position of clerk, for which salary was recently raised from $100 to $150 per month. Candidates are Ollie B. Padrick, who has held the office for 14 years, Norma Reed and Frank W. Upham. Five are seeking three positions on the city council, with Mayor Elmer Hughes and Fred Waidler, incumbents, and Ed Kupserle, who was recently appointed to fill an unexpired term, will face J. C. Felts and James Zoeter, former police chief, in the race. James A. Walder, city treasurer, is unopposed.

Tustin Quiet Tustin has little excitement over the coming election, with only incumbents seeking office. They are Mayor William Huntley and Councilman J. F. Pieper; City Clerk J. R. Harbour and Treasurer W. J. Pollard.

Excitement runs high at Laguna Beach, however, where one woman and four men are seeking council positions. Mrs. Zofia M. Beckwith, prominent clubwoman; Mayor Frank Champion and George Wilson, who are incumbents; Charles Jester and Randolph Bainbridge have all filed. City Clerk E. H. Beaver and Treasurer Sam Piety are unopposed.

The first woman ever to enter a race for city council in Newport Beach, Nella Norton, former postmaster, has filed for the election there. Seven men are also seeking to fill two positions on the council. Other candidates include Mayor Hermann Hilmer and Irvin George Gordon, incumbents; C. D. Dennison, H. H. Williamson, O. B. Read, M. J. Johnson and Elmer B. Whitson.

Alfred Smith, former city clerk, will oppose the incumbent, Frank Rinehart and Frank C. Brookings is seeking election as city treasurer, as is the incumbent, J. A. Gant.

Woman seeks Office At San Clemente two men and one woman will seek two council positions. Miss Lillian V. Coe, Monroe Thurman, incumbent, and Dan Mulholland, county WPA official, are the candidates. City Clerk William Holmes and Treasurer Ventr Bailey are unopposed.

Fullerton voters will choose between seven candidates to fill three council positions. Mayor W. H. Hale and T. K. Gowen, incumbents, and Walter Muckenthaler, H. H. Kohlenberger, Bert Schott, A. W. Purdy and L. B. "Les" Thompson are the candidates. City Clerk Fred Hezmalach will have two opponents, H. F. McKelvey and R. L. Menasco, while Treasurer J. Charles Johnson will be unopposed.

Clerk Race Told Interest in Placentia centers around the city clerk race, with Mrs. Nellie Cline, incumbent, will be opposed by Mrs. Sula D. Abbott, former postmaster. Three candidates are seeking two council seats, with Clarence Haiber and A. C. Schalles, incumbents, and Walter C. McKeehan having filed.

Brea voters were apparently satisfied with their present city officials, as the incumbents will be

FIRE DAMAGES WELL, HOMES

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Loss in an oil well yesterday morning was estimated at about $500 when the belt house and engine house were destroyed at the Acacia Oil Company's Acacia No. 3, located at Fifteenth street and Magnolia avenue.

Prompness of the fire department in racing to the scene prevented a more serious fire. The raging wind had gone down when the fire broke out at 5 p. m. It is believed that the fire was caused from a slipping belt, according to Fire Chief J. K. Sargent.

Two families of Mexicans living in a little Mexican village near Bolsa station lost their homes in a fire at 10 a. m. yesterday. Everything they possessed was lost in the blaze.

The Midway City Fire department responded to the call and saved other homes from destruction.

LIQUOR SALES LAGUNA TOPIC

LAGUNA BEACH.—A proposal to issue liquor purchasing permits to individuals, by state or county authorities, was presented before the luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce at Hotel Laguna Tuesday noon, by Herbert Palmer, local wine dealer.

Mr. Palmer further proposed that these individual permits be passed on by local police authorities, who would be given power to revoke or suspend them, according to seriousness of the charges filed against holders. Under this plan, no liquor dealer could sell to any person who does not possess a permit.

"The purpose of this plan," Mr. Palmer said, "is to put the responsibility of temperance on the individual under jurisdiction of the local peace authorities."

In a round-table discussion following introduction of this plan, it was generally agreed that no authority who has jurisdiction over liquor traffic, or enforcement, should be permitted to engage in the liquor business. It was decided to discuss the problem further at the next regular meeting.

Golden Rain

SYNOPSIS: After only one night as a boarder in the home of Miss Ella Lanning, gentleman who has seen better days, Morgan Black feels more relaxed and happier than for months before. Partly it is Miss Ella's good food, partly it is Miss Ella's voice, and partly it is the fact that he is in the hands of a real head, who was a painter and, unfortunately, a "misunderstood genius."

"Though after all, why one should think the world owed one such a lot—" said Morgan one afternoon. They were by themselves, very friendly at the farther black-marble fireplace in the sitting-dining room.

"It doesn't," said Iris. "What makes you do all that work?" He straightened his tall back and laughed a little shamefacedly. "I don't know. I like doing things for Uncle Will." He had come to calling him that. "Look here, let me slip you the check I got for this. It's Uncle Will's money, so you can't be an insulted duchess over it."

"It wouldn't be honorable." "And you think you're a modern girl? Take all you can get is their motto."

"I don't believe a word of it. You're being cheaply cynical." "Well, what modern girl would go on doing her duty the way you do, and take it for granted for a fair price to ride up in a Rolls with a fairy godmother?"

"I don't want! I'd like it, but I know things like that don't happen. And you have to do your duty. Everybody does."

"Morgan laughed. "No, they don't. As a matter of fact you could marry what you want. You have one of the prettiest figures I ever saw," he said on a brotherly note, "and a pretty face and lots of verve. Or pep."

"It would have to be by correspondence," said Iris idly, completely unmoved by his casual compliment. She had been told how pretty and graceful she was all her life, and she hadn't much vanity, though a terrific pride.

She dropped her brush, yawning and stretching like a kitten in the warmth of the spring day. "Morgan, give me that vest, there's a button loose."

"Nonsense, you do enough sewing." "I like doing manual things, it's all I inherited from Daddy."

"All? You have more talents than any girl I ever met." His voice was warmer than he knew. "Singing, playing, languages, painting—"

"But I can't pick locks. Morgan, be a Boy Scout for me as well as Uncle William, your heart's delight. Come up garret and get into a trunk for me. You know you love attic. It's part of your childish innocent taste."

"Burglary? What's inside—something Miss Ella considers holy?" "No, merely—or I hope—some dresses that belonged to my mother. I've always been allowed to make my clothes out of them. I found this trunk down under a lot of boxes full of rag-rags."

"Might be a dark mystery," said Morgan indolently. (Copyright, 1936, Margaret Wildmeyer)

And tomorrow the trunk does turn up a mystery.

Nighthall Prediction
Cook and Gordon
Greene Awards 'Em

So near yet so far away from the grand opening May 8, an anonymous letter comes to this department in which some nighthall addict, who says he's been enthusiastically following the pastime here for nine years, predicts they'll finish this way in the National league pennant dash:

First Half
1—Santa Ana, 2—Huntington Beach, 3—Anaheim, 4—Olive, 5—Westminster, and 6—Orange.
Second Half
1—Huntington Beach, 2—Anaheim, 3—Santa Ana, 4—Olive, 5—Westminster, and 6—Orange.

Whether or not one agrees with this particular observer's selections, he must admit the odd-timer has arranged the teams in sweet order.

Another one of those torrid play-offs between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana is a pleasant possibility—and highly probable despite the threat of an invigorated Anaheim-Long Beach roster.

It will be a "feather-in-the-hat" for Orange if the baby member of the wheel escapes the cellar.

They need more Clyde Cooks in coaching.

The Saint faculty member, who directs Class B basketball and varsity baseball as a sideline to his history-instructing, was taken ill with the flu yesterday.

Confined to his home, he was too weak to accompany his ball nine to Brea, yet he was interested enough to place a half dozen phone calls seeking someone to escort the Saints to Brea. That night a hoarse voice came over the telephone to The Journal, "How did we come out?" It was Cook.

"You can have your choice of a necktie or a pair of socks."

That's what Reece (Pinky) Greene, Santa Ana High school's hustling track maestro, will award the Saints who shatter any of the existing records in Class A, B or C competition this year.

Len Stafford and Larry Dresser, pole vaulters, already have cashed in on Coach Greene's merchandise offer.

Glenn (Babe) Gordon, bespectacled Santa Ana outfielder, who will be farmed out soon by the St. Louis Cardinals, really likes baseball.

His love for the game was illustrated yesterday when a member of The Journal's sports department was motoring him back from Brea where Gordon coached the Saints in the absence of ailing Clyde Cook.

Swinging around by the Fullerton campus, the party stopped momentarily to watch Art Nunn's junior collegians in action against Cal Tech.

"Shall we get out?" popped Gordon. "No," said the other two in the party, and the car drove on. It was 5:30 p. m.

SPORT SHORTS: James (Iron-Man) Daneri, greatest all-around competitor in Santa Ana Jaycee track annals, has recorded javelin tosses of 210 ft., 11 in. and 219 ft. 4 in. since enrolling at Oregon State two years ago. Jim has improved tremendously since he was the king-pin of the Eastern conference here with efforts varying between 175 and 195 feet. They are beginning to call him "Iron-Man" Williams, pitching pride of the Saints, "Smokey" at Poly field. . . The Elks, South Methodists and First National Bankers held a triangular workout in softball at the Municipal bowl last night. Gene Hitt's bankers occupied the none-too-well-lighted diamond in the north section of the stadium, while their rivals mixed in a lively exhibition on the regular field.

Beatem's Plunging Almost Sinks Him; He Loses $124

Things went from just fair to decidedly awful yesterday for Tryan Beatem, downhearted long shot player. He worried and fretted over eight classy selections at Tanforan. What happened? Only one of the dogs got in the money—Lobitas at $3.40 to show. Result: Beatem lost $124.40 for the day, as he had plunged on Tuesday's profits. That knocked his bankroll to a new peace-time low, leaving him only $1551.30 of his original $2000.

Wynott Riskitt, his rival in the long shot vs. form selection didn't do much better. He lost only $18. He collected $25 when Some Devil won, $20.20 for In Chancery's win, $9.60 on Dark Devil's place money and $6.40 show money on Daudet. This reduced his bankroll to $1945. Meanwhile the parimutuel m

Connie Mack Very Sad Man as A's Look Hopeless

OLD MASTER IS FACING CELLAR

Philadelphia Sage Finds Baseball Players Not Easy to Locate

By PAUL MICHELSON
FORT MYERS, Fla., March 26. (AP)—Old Connie Mack didn't know he didn't know there existed such a big shortage of good young ball players today; he didn't know pitchers with even a fair knowledge of how to throw weren't waiting at every cross roads town for a big league chance; he didn't know the Philadelphia fans who never seemed to give a hoot would take the sale of his last cluster of stars to heart.

Connie Mack knows now. He's worried and sad, as grand a fighter and as shrewd as he is. A lone leaver on the American cellar faces him once more. Some 50 ball players, recruited from everywhere, are drilling hard and talking it up under the keen blue eyes of the old master down here at Fort Myers.

Class Dismissed
Class? With Jimmie Fox, Eric McNair, Roger Cramer and John Marcum gone, a team that surrendered and finished in the cellar last year, there couldn't be much left.

There are 20 hurlers in camp but injuries and lack of pitching knowledge among the rookies have made the task hard and difficult. Connie probably will depend on Bill Dietrich, Wilbur Wilshire, Dusty Rhodes, Charles Lieber and Henry Johnson. Lieber and Wilshire now have sore arms and Rhodes has a sprained ankle.

Defensively, except for pitching, and offensively, Connie should fare well. Working the infield will be Pinky Higgins, third; Hal Warstler, second; Lemar Newsome, short, and Jim Glesby, a hard hitting rookie from Los Angeles, at first. Lou Finney may be shifted from the outfield to take over first should Olesby flunk out. Finney, Bob Johnson, Wally Moses and George Puccinelli, 28-year-old rookie with a great punch from Baltimore, will comprise the outfield.

Needs Catcher
Catching is another serious question. Connie may yet swing a deal for an experienced catcher to help out the veteran Charlie Berry. "No, it doesn't look so good," reflected Connie. "We haven't got much pitching. It's a big surprise to me that a lot of young baseball players don't even know how to throw that ball any more, but I learned long ago that nothing is quite hopeless," Connie mused.

Lewis Wetherell Wins for S. C.
Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana tennis king, teamed with Gene Mark to defeat Ben Day and Pommer in doubles, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, that aided the U. S. C. tennis varsity to trim Stanford's defending champions, 6 to 3, in Los Angeles yesterday. Wetherell lost in singles to Stanford's Underwood, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Giants Win, Padres Cancel Ball Game
FULLERTON, March 26. (AP)—The final of a two-game series between the San Diego Padres and the barnstorming Tokyo Giants, scheduled here today, was canceled by Manager Frank Shellenack because of threatening weather. Bunching hits off Jack Hile in two innings, the Giants scored a 4-to-1 victory yesterday.

2611 More in U. S. Win Sweep Tickets
DUBLIN, March 26. (AP)—The names of 2611 more Americans were added today to the happy winners of prizes in the Irish Free State hospital sweepstakes late yesterday as the drawings were concluded two days in advance of the grand national steplechase.

Four of the Americans won fortunes of about $27,000 each. The remainder will receive consolation prizes of $100 (about $500).

Today's drawings of residual and consolation prizes will send to America a sum of money totaling more than $1,650,000 which will be materially increased after the Liverpool race Friday, inasmuch as numerous Americans holding tickets on favorites have a chance to gain prizes.

Stanford Ousted From Cage Race
SEATTLE, March 26. (AP)—With Seattle's mighty Indian five knocked from the running, Oregon State and the University of Washington will fight it out here tonight for the right to play in the national Olympic games trials next week in New York.

The Oregon State Beavers, in an astonishing upset last night, ran up a score of 33 to 23 over Stanford which only two weeks ago won the Pacific Coast conference crown by taking two straight games from Washington's Huskies. Washington won the right to meet the winner of the Stanford-Oregon State game by a 41-to-27 victory over Southern California.

Baseball Holding Its Own—Prexy
ST. LOUIS, March 26. (AP)—The national pastime is still holding its own.

In the opinion of Judge William G. Bramham, president of the National minor league baseball association, there has been no decline in baseball interest in the smaller communities of the country, either on the part of spectators or of players.

Perhaps the healthiest sign in the minors, Bramham said here yesterday, is the growth in the number of leagues in the kindergartens of baseball.

There are four or five class D leagues being formed now and of the 25 or more minor circuits all but seven are in the three lower groups, B, C, and D, he said.

Last year there were 2000 players signed to first year contracts and there has been no decrease in the number of young men seeking to enter baseball this season, Bramham said.

"Night baseball," he added, "proved the salvation of many small leagues during the depression period."

The league president said his only worry about the coming summer is that it is election year, notoriously bad for minor league clubs.

"Perhaps too many fans will be out working for election rather than paying attention to baseball," he commented.

Southpaws, Attention

An appeal to the police was voiced in the Minnesota prison publication, "The Prison Mirror." An inmate scribe regretted that the convict baseball team's pitcher was about to graduate and urged the police departments of the state to deliver a successor speedily.

ALHAMBRA TOMORROW
Gunning for their second straight victory in the Coast league, Clyde D. Cook's Saints travel to Alhambra tomorrow afternoon to vie with the Moors, who were beaten by San Diego's defending champions, 18 to 2, at San Diego in the first round.

Santa Ana holds a surprise 6-4 decision over Long Beach Poly. Coach Cook indicated he would start the following Saints: Jimmy Wilkins, p; Ferris Wall, c; Bob Reid, 1b; Harvey Hemphill, 2b; Erwin Youel, 3b; Harold Jesse, 3b; Joe Kado-waki or Joe Ortega, cf; Norman Wyckoff, cf; Art Niebas or Ray O'Campo, rf.

baseball victory over Santa Ana High school's varsity at Brea yesterday.

The upcounty boys combed the offerings of Santa Ana's second-stringer gunner, Lewis Olivas, for seven hits in five innings. Jimmy (Smokey) Wilkins, No. 1 slinger, allowed the Wildcats down 1-2-3 in the sixth and last time Brea came to bat during the seven-inning affair.

Duane Teel, who has been hobbling around with an infected leg for three weeks, was back in suit, and caught the sixth for the Saints. Ferris Wall, who has been filling in admirably at times as regular backup, retired after the fourth to favor a light touch of the flu. Minoru Nitta caught the fifth.

Brea won the game in the first when Baker, centerfielder, reached first on an infield grounder, and was neatly sacrificed to second by McConnell, first baseman. Pitcher Thaten drove in Baker with a single to right. He advanced to second on the play, and stole third, from where he scored when Short-stop Erwin Youel allowed Cox's grounder to slip through his legs. Singles by Johnson netted runs for Brea in the third and fifth.

Bob Reid gained first on an infield error, took second on Art Niebas' walk, and came home on two successive passed balls for Santa Ana's gift run in the fifth.

COOTS SIGNED BY LACKAYE OF STARS

Outside dicker for Nan Coots, Anaheim's southpaw-hitting first baseman, was over today.

Manager George Lackaye and the Santa Ana commission had the big fellow's name on a contract, thus assuring the Stars of an added punch for their National Night Ball league campaign, opening at Huntington Beach May 8.

All of the Stars, both old and new, are expected in suit at the Municipal bowl Friday night when Lackaye sends them against the South Methodists of the City league. The M. B. South nine was outclassed by the rival Elks, 1935 champions, in a spirited workout last night.

Cravante and Johnson Suspended

LOS ANGELES, March 26. (AP) Guilty of foul fighting, Roy Johnson, Los Angeles Negro, and Gege Cravante, of Venice, today stood suspended for 30 days and ordered to pay a $50 fine each by the State Athletic commission.

The pair staged their second straight spectacle of "dirty fighting" at the Olympic Auditorium last Tuesday night. Both were guilty of repeated low blows, started by Johnson in the first round and Cravante rushed across the ring after the fourth and tried to kick his opponent, the commission found.

Stanford Ousted From Cage Race

SEATTLE, March 26. (AP)—With Seattle's mighty Indian five knocked from the running, Oregon State and the University of Washington will fight it out here tonight for the right to play in the national Olympic games trials next week in New York.

The Oregon State Beavers, in an astonishing upset last night, ran up a score of 33 to 23 over Stanford which only two weeks ago won the Pacific Coast conference crown by taking two straight games from Washington's Huskies. Washington won the right to meet the winner of the Stanford-Oregon State game by a 41-to-27 victory over Southern California.

Baseball Holding Its Own—Prexy

ST. LOUIS, March 26. (AP)—The national pastime is still holding its own.

In the opinion of Judge William G. Bramham, president of the National minor league baseball association, there has been no decline in baseball interest in the smaller communities of the country, either on the part of spectators or of players.

Perhaps the healthiest sign in the minors, Bramham said here yesterday, is the growth in the number of leagues in the kindergartens of baseball.

There are four or five class D leagues being formed now and of the 25 or more minor circuits all but seven are in the three lower groups, B, C, and D, he said.

Last year there were 2000 players signed to first year contracts and there has been no decrease in the number of young men seeking to enter baseball this season, Bramham said.

"Night baseball," he added, "proved the salvation of many small leagues during the depression period."

The league president said his only worry about the coming summer is that it is election year, notoriously bad for minor league clubs.

"Perhaps too many fans will be out working for election rather than paying attention to baseball," he commented.

FIELD EVENTS GIVE LOCALS AN EDGE

Ed Vickery Threatens In Hurdles, Sprints For Panthermen

Supremacy in the field events will favor Santa Ana Junior college's track-and-field performers, by an approximate score of 70 to 56, going into their fourth Eastern conference dual meet with Chaffey's Panthers on the Claremont oval tomorrow afternoon.

A. J. (Bill) Cook's Dons will be facing an opponent of apparently equal strength in the sprints, distances and hurdles. They expect to gain their winning margin

POT BOILERS WRANGLE ON FARM PLAN

President Assured of Mid-West Support Says Spokesman

WASHINGTON, March 26. (P) The farm problem drew increasing attention today as a campaign talking point. One prominent Republican declared the government should refrain from telling growers what to plant, while a Roosevelt supporter asserted the President has the backing of farmers.

Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, continuing his drive for the Republican presidential nomination, outlined his views in a New York broadcast Tuesday night.

"What the government should not do," said Knox, "is to attempt to tell the farmer what to plant, how much to plant, and in general to run their business for them."

He listed efficient production, and the finding of domestic and foreign markets, as essential points of a program.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said the Republicans can offer no effective opposition to the President in the western farm belt because "they don't have a farm program."

He declared there was "no question about" farm support for Mr. Roosevelt.

The agricultural question also was touched upon by Senator Steiwer (R.-Ore.) at Raleigh, N. C., where state Republicans mapped plans for a campaign they said was "to save America from the New Deal."

The program he put forth was: a nation-wide land conservation plan both permanent and practical, a guarantee that the American producer shall enjoy the American market to the extent of his ability to supply that market, government aid in disposing of farm surpluses, and lower interest rates on farm mortgages.

TOASTMASTERS CHIEF VISITS

Kenneth Sturzing, district governor of Toastmasters' International for the states of California and Arizona, spoke at Smedley chapter meeting last evening at James cafe. Mr. Sturzing, now living in Santa Monica, joined Toastmasters' organization through the Santa Ana club several years ago.

Other guest speakers were Floyd Curl and Noble Sellers of Tustin Union High school, who will represent Smedley chapter in the Toastmasters annual Southern California high school speaking contest this spring.

Mr. Curl talked on "Reducing Traffic Accidents," and Mr. Sellers on "Salesmanship." The boys were given critic sheets made out by each of the club members, commenting on their talks.

Arthur Woodworth won first place in the weekly speaking contest with his speech on "Law of the Tribe." He told of the old tribal law of "survival of the fittest," contrasting it with the present-day standards of social responsibility.

"Was my Face Red" was the subject of D. H. Tibbals' talk, discussed the embarrassing incidents which are met with in every day life.

"The Final Kick" was the subject of the talk given by Allen W. Goddard, based on the 1923 Olympic Games.

Herbert Thomas presided as toastmaster, with J. Lee Hewitt as general critic and David Cherry as dictionary critic. Ralph C. Smedley, founder of Toastmasters International, gave constructive criticism of the talk.

Miss Emma B. Heald, vice-principal and head of the English department of Tustin Union High school, C. E. McLeod were visitors at the meeting, in addition to District Governor Sturzing.

Student, 16, Marries His Teacher, Then Graduates

LIVINGSTON, Tenn., March 26. (P)—Although he missed the last two weeks of school, Harliss Reeder has graduated from the eighth grade to the delight of his teacher, who also is his wife. Harliss, a strapping youth of 16, and his teacher, Miss Pauline Roberts, 30, were married two weeks ago, before the end of the term, and the boy immediately swapped his pen for a plowshare on his father-in-law's farm.

This week examination time came. Mr. Reeder took the tests in reading, "rithmetic and such, and pleased Mrs. Reeder by knowing the right answers.

He Knew Madame Modjeska and May Live in Santa Ana

H. H. Colpus, Oceanside, who has consorted with Hawaiian royalty, was a friend of Madame Modjeska, and once was butler for the widow of P. T. Barnum of circus fame, may locate in Santa Ana. Yesterday the chamber of commerce here received a letter from Mr. Colpus in which he mentioned his acquaintance with Madame Modjeska, who at one time maintained her home in Santiago canyon.

The letter follows: "I thank you for your goodness of the 11th inst. In regard to Mr. Bisby's answer to the affirmative for room at $25 per month as I only have $60 a month to live on. I am just wondering about the price of meals at Santa Ana. Fifty cents a meal is the rate here and $16 a month for room in the Sunshine hotel. Yet I feel confident Santa Ana is more refined and undoubtedly the Santa Ana hotel is much superior than can be found between San Diego and Los Angeles.

"I remember well when Countess Helena Modjeska had a ranch at Santa Ana. I traveled to Australia on same ship with her, with King Kalakaua and Queen Kapiolani to Honolulu to act as court usher for

Radio Roundup TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

A RUNNING account of the Grand National Steeplechase, flashed direct from the track at Aintree, England, will be carried by the National Broadcasting Co. early tomorrow morning. Dial either KECA or KPFD at 6:49 a. m.

Those officiating at the microphone will be R. C. Lyle, sports commentator of the British Broadcasting Corp., and R. Hobbie, recognized British racing authority. They will be stationed at the vantage points along the course.

BING CROSBY'S show, the weakest of the many Thursday variety hours, looks somewhat promising tonight. At least you could hardly expect it to miss with such names as Grete Stueckgold, whose polished soprano goes unusually well over a microphone; Virginia Bruce, screen actress, and Jean Hersholt, (KFI, 7) Hersholt, who plays the title role in "The Country Doctor," will tell some behind-the-scenes stories which happened while making the movie with the Dionne quintuplets.

A NEW PROGRAM joins the lineup—"The Talent Parade," featuring Ben Alexander as master of ceremonies. Harry Jackson's orchestra and the Guardsmen quartet are also billed. (KFI, 9:15)

The half-hour, patterned in sympathy with the amateur craze, will bring to the air "youthful and ambitious Hollywood screen players." Alexander, although only 24, has a background of twenty-one years in pictures.

STATE VEHICLE CODE TESTED

A simple citation issued by California Highway Patrolman George Peterkin on March 6 yesterday was the basis of a case heard by Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison to determine the constitutionality of section 704 of the California vehicle code. The section in question provides that it is illegal for trucks sold after Jan. 1, 1930, to carry more than 17,000 pounds on any one axle. It also stipulates that truck sold prior to that time may carry 18,000 pounds on one axle.

The defendant in the case, C. E. Kretzinger, Orange, was arrested by Officer Peterkin March 6, and charged with having in excess of a 17,000 pounds load on one axle. The truck is owned by P. G. Oakley, 1211 Maple street, Santa Ana. Mr. Kretzinger's attorney, William Swain, Jr., Fullerton, held that the law regulating the amount of weight carried by trucks first registered after 1930 was discriminatory. He alleged in his arguments that the section in question is unconstitutional on the grounds that it is class legislation. He also argued that the section is unfair, because it gives old trucks the advantage over new trucks, when the reverse should be true.

Justice Morrison has taken the case under advisement.

CONSTITUTION TALKS END TONIGHT

W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop Evening High school, Santa Ana, will conclude his discussion of the constitution of the United States with his broadcast from KVOE this evening at 8:30 when he will read and comment briefly on Articles II, III, IV, V and VI having to do with the choice and election of the President, the judicial system, the relation between state and federal authority, amendments to the constitution and the authority of the constitution over state authority respectively.

This discussion, as were previous ones, will be strictly non-political and non-partisan.

Under the title of "Discovered," an amusing sketch centering around a "gay old sport" who is addicted to falling for the beautiful ladies of the chorus will be dramatized tonight at 8:45 on KVOE. An unusual situation is created when the "old boy" discovers that his son has stolen his latest love. The part of the glamorous girl will be played by Alice Rheinhardt, talented radio and screen actress.

The full rendition of Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Opus 36, as played by the London symphony orchestra directed by Sir Thomas Beecham, will be presented to KVOE's audience beginning at 8:15 tonight.

First performed April 5, 1803, it was not considered to be as pleasing as Beethoven's previous symphony, as his manner was strange to the critics. But Berlioz hailed it as a masterpiece. Beethoven was but 32 years of age when he wrote his second symphony.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ACCEPTS PROPOSED $590,000,000 TAX PLAN

VOTE AGAINST PROCESSING LEVIES

Report Approved Only As Basis for Start Of Hearings

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP) The house ways and means committee today accepted without change the tax program worked out by a sub-committee as a basis for open hearings beginning Monday on the administration revenue program.

The report contained recommendations, already disclosed, for a new form of corporation tax, based on percentages of net income held in reserves, designed to yield $550,000,000.

It included, too, a proposal for a 90 per cent "windfall" tax on "unjust enrichment occurring as a result of non-payment" of old AAA processing taxes.

No Processing Taxes.

No new processing taxes, as suggested by the President, or any other form of excise levies, were embraced in the report.

One hitherto unrevealed feature was that the tax on undistributed corporate income, but that they would be allowed to retain the privilege of filing consolidated returns.

Some committee members said that the tax would pay no more taxes under this arrangement than they do now, and perhaps less.

"Basis For Hearings"

"I want to make it clear," said Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the full committee, "that the report has been accepted only as the basis for hearings."

President Roosevelt had suggested that $620,000,000 of additional federal revenue be obtained through taxes on corporation dividends and undistributed net income, and $517,000,000 more over two or three years from the windfall and new, broader processing levies.

The sub-committee decided the administration plan for new processing taxes on farm and competing products should not even be considered in the hearings.

NEGROES TO SING AT CHURCH TONIGHT

Plantation melodies and Negro spirituals will resound tonight at the First Church of the Nazarene, West Fifth and Barton streets. Four Negro vocalists, formerly with the "Cotton Blossom" singers, will present a song program at 7:30 o'clock.

Known as the "Pullman Four," the quartet is sponsored by the "Little Church of the Fireside," station KGER, Long Beach.

Cristianitos Canyon Sight of First Christian Baptism in California

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about Cristianitos canyon.—Editor.)

The first Christian baptism in California took place in Orange county.

The spot where this event took place is known as Cristianitos canyon, sometimes spelled Christianitos canyon. This canyon is north of San Onofre, which is on the Coast highway.

On July 22, 1769, Don Gaspar de Portola was leading an expedition northward through what is now Orange county. The party was on its way to seek the location of Monterey bay. A camp was made near an Indian village in Cristianitos canyon.

The priests with the party discovered that two baby girls in necklaces with their names spelled in white beads. Something new in the hospital is pink beads for girls and blue for boys. The beads have just been ordered. Doubt it if you like, but young Eddie looks much like his father. I never thought I'd come to that sort of resemblance-seeking.

The nurse informed me that "The little West boy is going to be blonde."

More black hair characterized Robbie Munro, son and first child of the Robert Arthur Munros. He was pretty red, but that only means he'll be brunette.

Energetic roaring came forth from the Glenn Mathieses' baby girl, who has brown hair and blue eyes and seemed quite tiny.

The Wendell Finleys' daughter has finely pencilled brows, interesting eyes and was playing with a bottle when I saw her.

Oldest of the girls is Mary Jane Whittaker, aged 11 days, first child of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Whittaker of Huntington Beach.

Until the babies leave the hospital they cannot be in the same room with anyone but their mothers and the special day and night nurses. Even the doctors are barred from the super-sanitary room, just as though they were mere men, or papas.

Some of Our Best People Have New Arrivals, But the Papas Mustn't Touch!

By ELLEN SNEBBLEY

Which proud Santa Ana papa hasn't yet been within six feet of his new offspring?

The answer might be one of several men. It might be Wendell Finley, or it might be Franklin or Eddie West.

Anyways, some of our best people have been having babies this past week, so I decided to go out to St. Joseph's hospital and stare at the youngsters in their glass house.

Girl Dark, Boy Light

"The girl is dark and the boy is light," said the white-clad sister who led the way through two "no admittance" doors to the observation corridor of the baby ward.

Thus warned, I waited while she sterilized her hands and added a cold-germ proof mask to her already voluminous white uniform. Then she disappeared through a door and appeared inside the glass wall through which could be seen 12 babies in square white cribs on wheels.

First to be presented were Mary and Edmund C. West, jr., first-born daughter of the Franklin Wests and son of the Eddie Wests.

Babies Wear Gloves

Mary has loads of black hair and grins. All the babies wear long cotton gloves and blue bead

NO WAR, SAYS JAPAN CHIEF

TOKYO, March 26. (AP)—Kiko Hirota declared today that Japan would fight no war while he was premier.

The new premier, who recalled that he told parliament in 1935 that "there will be no war while I am foreign minister," told foreign correspondents today, "that holds good while I am premier."

Hirota expressed "keen gratification" over a recent statement by Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the council of Soviet commissars, that "Russian-Japanese relations were improving."

Hirota became premier after the Feb. 26 Tokyo uprising and assassinations.

ASK 85 MILLION IN GRAVE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, March 26. (AP) A suit asking $85,000,000 and charging desecration of graves was filed today in superior court by Kate McCullough and others, owners of lots in the Long Beach Cemetery Association property.

The action was directed against the cemetery association and a long list of producing oil companies operating on lands adjoining the cemetery, near Signal Hill oil field.

Directors of the cemetery association were charged in the complaint with deceiving the plaintiffs by entering into "indemnity agreements" which were alleged actually to be royalty agreements with the various oil companies.

These agreements, the complaint asserts, permitted the oil companies to trespass on the cemetery property and remove oil and gas, although the land was declared to have been dedicated for burial purposes only.

Whipstock drilling has been employed by the oil firms to tap the underground oil pool beneath the cemetery, the complaint alleged.

Evasion of $6000 on individual tax returns for 1930 was charged in separate indictments.

JAPAN TALKS NAVY POWER IN LONDON

U. S., Britain Discuss Policy of Far East After Signing Pact

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

LONDON, March 26.—The United States and Great Britain followed up today the signing of the new London naval treaty, a British spokesman said, with diplomatic conversations with Japan concerning fortifications and naval bases in the Far East.

The new pact failed to renew Article 19 of the Washington naval limitations treaty, by which the three powers agreed no new fortifications or naval bases should be established in designated Far Eastern territories and possessions.

The British naval spokesman said the diplomatic negotiations over this question were undertaken in answer to a Japanese request for information as to the future intentions of the other great sea powers toward the Far East.

Japan did not sign the new treaty, having quit the naval conference after its demands for full fleet equality were opposed by the United States and Britain, whose delegates believed a common upper limit would give Japan Eastern superiority.

PITTMAN URGES CLOSE STUDY OF NEW PACT

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP) A feeling that the new tri-power naval treaty should be studied closely before the senate votes on the question of ratifying it was expressed today by Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the powerful senate foreign relations committee.

Pittman did not mention Japan in his comment on the pact signed yesterday by Great Britain, the United States and France, but he previously has indicated any accord should provide an "escape" to meet any possible situation arising from Japanese naval activity.

Strange Doings at Telephone Co. Open House; Science Marvels Amaze Visitors

Santa Ana's four-day open house is acquiring a reputation as a hall of electrical wonders. Above left: Winifred Faris, chief operator at the telephone office, demonstrates switchboard technique to a tiny visitor, Gay Keeran, 3, whose mother is a member of the Santa Ana telephone force. Right: And here's your "repair clerk," the girl who gets reports of Santa Ana telephones out of order. She is Ethel La Prie, shown here discussing one of her cases with L. W. Pettitt, wire chief of the telephone office who heads the job of keeping the switchways open. Lower left: Ruth Harmon points out some of the delicate equipment used to adjust long distance telephone circuits radiating from the Santa Ana telephone building. Right: Mrs. Fred Rowland, Ebell club president, was among many civic leaders attending the telephone show. The cameraman caught her here listening to her voice over the "electrical echo" machine, which records and returns speech after a five-second delay. The open house continues tonight until 9 o'clock, and Friday and Saturday from 2 to 9 p. m. daily, free to everyone, at the telephone building, 201 East Fifth street.

A man stood on a platform in photographs, which were unable to produce all the notes in music, or the overtones in the human voice.

Sounds Record on Tape

Another phenomenon which amazed visitors was the reproducing of their own voices, five seconds after they had spoken into a telephone transmitter. The sounds were recorded on a narrow steel tape which the speaker could see passing through a mechanism. Then they were transmitted to the speaker's ears. The sounds later were "erased" from the tape by magnetizing it.

The audience saw voices recorded on which was a circular area of light, crossed by a green line. When someone spoke into a transmitter hooked up with the instrument, the green line became agitated and made all kinds of queer patterns in the circle of light. It was this same kind of patterns which were recorded on the steel tape when folks heard their own voices come back to them.

The open house will continue tomorrow and Saturday, starting at 2 p. m. Visitors will be shown through the room where the telephone operators work at the long switchboard. The manner in which calls are received and connections are made will be explained by guides.

One of Miracles

The feat, performed by Dean Smith, was just one of the miracles witnessed by those who enjoyed yesterday's open house at the telephone company building. Mr. Smith and others demonstrated numerous unusual methods whereby the telephone company experts test sound in order to be sure that telephones accurately transmit the voices of those who use them.

By means of another device Mr. Smith took the bass notes out of music played by electrical transcription and amplified through a loud speaker. Then he took out the high notes, or the middle notes. He produced results which sounded like pioneer radios and old time

CONGRESSMEN OPEN PURSES To Baby-Nurser, Once Ousted

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP)—Sympathetic house members broke their own rules yesterday to shower dollar bills on Representative H. E. Stubbs (D-Calif.) to aid the Everett Parker family of last session's gallery baby-nursing fame. Stubbs suggested the collection.

Speaker Byrns finally stopped the collection as a violation of the house rules, but not before $43 had been contributed.

Mrs. Parker, wife of a Tennessee tenant farmer, was asked to leave the gallery last session when Doorkeeper Joseph Sinnott found her nursing her baby.

Representative Dunn (D-Miss) rose today to describe the plight of the family, to which a new addition was born three days ago.

He pictured the family's plight as "a pure case of unadulterated, damnable red tape" in administering relief appropriations.

Dunn related that Parker came to his office some time ago, shell-shocked from the World war and unable to obtain employment. The family, he said, is still in Washington living in a 10 by 10 room without sanitary, or other facilities.

Puff falls till he's dizzy—down, down through the trees—Then lands on a limb, just as nice as you please.

Now Alice jumps down, landing right beside Puff.

They leap to the ground, which is now close enough.

COSTLY 'EYE' LEAVES FOR CALIFORNIA

20-Ton Glass Casting To Be Mt. Palomar Telescope Mirror

CORNING, N. Y., March 26. (AP) A six million dollar piece of glass, bound for the California Institute of Technology observatory, left here at sunrise today on a freight car specially equipped to carry the 200-inch telescope "eye" on its transcontinental journey.

The 20-ton glass casting, which will be used as a mirror for the world's largest telescope, was drawn by a slow moving locomotive which will go no faster than 25 miles an hour during the 3300-mile trip to Pasadena, Calif. The trip will require about a week.

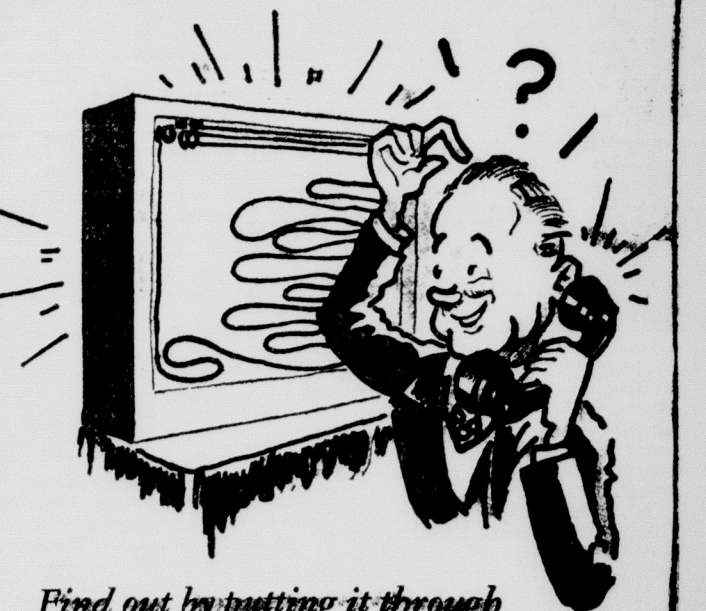

There were no spectators except railroad men and Dr. George V. McCauley, Corning glass works physicist, his wife and daughter, as the three-car special train and engine wheeled out of the works siding at 6:45 a. m.

Dr. McCauley has watched over the disc and superintended every move since the 20-ton casting was poured more than two years ago.

The New York Central Railroad has charge of the valuable cargo as far as Cleveland. From Corning it will pass through Geneva, N. Y., to Lyons, where it will be placed on the main line for Buffalo and the west.

After several years in the grinding shops the mirror will be installed in the new observatory of the California Institute of Technology on Mt. Palomar.

Mary Stoddard How Can Sub-Deb Be Kept from Roadhouse After Party, Mother Queries

By MARY STODDARD Pleading the cause of conventionality doesn't keep her sub-deb daughter from going to a cafe or roadhouse after parties, and one Santa Ana mother appeals to others for means to convince the youngster that home is the place to go at the end of an evening.

"Be Good and You'll be Happy" was a favorite motto for young girls in the lavender and lace period—and both motto and the moral standards of the period apply today!

How to convince the sub-deb of this, only parents who have succeeded can tell this mother.

Dear Miss Stoddard: What are we mothers of 16-year-olds going to do to convince our daughters that, when they go out to a perfectly nice party, they are to come home, and right home, after the party? What can we say to them that will convince them that they must not take a spin around the boulevard with Tommy and Bob, even though they are neighbors and perfectly nice?

DeMolays Give Dance for J. C. Fund

Two distinctive dance features will be found tonight by Santa Ana young people when they flock to the Friday evening DeMolay Job's Daughters dance at 8 o'clock in the Pains ballroom.

Waltz and fox-trotting contests, with sleeveless sweaters for women winners and 10 gallons of gasoline for their partners, will be one innovation. The other is—part of the proceeds of the dance will go to the junior college student loan fund.

Headed by Miss Louise Sexton, the local chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national jaycee honor society, is sponsoring the dance this evening. In a campaign at the school recently, $100 was raised for the fund by Phi Theta Kappa. Calvin C. Flint, junior college dean of men, will direct the dance contest.

INDUSTRIALS LEAD STOCK UP-TREND

Rails Follow Motors and Specialties In Advance Action

NEW YORK, March 26. (AP)—Leading stock market industrials brushed a new five-year ceiling today with gains ranging from fractions to a point for the majority, and four or more in scattered issues.

Even the rails, discouragingly backward recently, rallied in the wake of the motors and favored specialties. The activity, on the further advance, was inclined to enlarge materially.

Nearing the fourth hour shares of Allied Chemical were up about 4. Automotive stocks such as General Motors and Chrysler, a point or so ahead, were in the greatest demand. Others that pushed up included U. S. Steel, Du Pont, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Texas Corp., Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Delaware & Hudson.

Among losers of relatively small amounts were American Smelting, U. S. Smelting, Bethlehem, Standard Oil of New Jersey and United Aircraft.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 26. (AP)—Late trading in today's stock market took the starch out of many industrial specialties that had given a display of strength during the greater part of the session.

Early general gains of fractions to a point or so, and even as much as 4 in scattered issues, were shaded or canceled in the final hour. The late tone was irregular. Transfers approximated 1,950,000 shares. Closing prices:

SAYS HEARST PROSTITUTES HIS PRESS

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP)—Senator Minton (D., Ind.), a member of the senate lobby committee, today accused William Randolph Hearst, the publisher of "prostituting" his newspapers for his own private interests.

Minton made his accusation in a speech on the senate floor as the committee was preparing to file its report to a suit brought in District of Columbia supreme court by the publisher to prevent use of certain of his telegrams seized by the committee in its investigation into lobbying.

"He is the greatest menace to freedom of the press in the country," the Indian said, as he interrupted the senate's routine "business hour" to attack Hearst. "Instead of using his newspapers to disseminate news," Minton said, "he is using his chain of newspapers to prostitute the freedom of the press to his own interests."

Minton began his speech with an assertion that when the Hearst suit was filed "the newspaper headlines screamed to heaven that the sacred liberties of the people were about to be violated and the committee was running roughshod over their rights."

TWO TO ATTEND FARM PARLEY

Agricultural interests of Orange county at the state-wide conference to be held in Berkeley Monday and Tuesday to consider the new soil conservation and domestic allotment program enacted recently by congress will be represented by Walter Pollard, Tustin, and Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

The conference has been called by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to advise state leaders regarding the stabilizing intent of the new farm program, and to offer instructions for carrying the program into the farm districts of the state.

In early April, according to Mr. Wahlberg, several community meetings will be held in Orange county to familiarize local farmers with details of the new farm adjustment plan. The act will be administered in this county by a committee to be elected by the district group meetings when called in April.

Announcement of plans to open the office here was made today by Mrs. Barbara Brooks of Costa Mesa, leader in the Epic movement.

Salvation Army Leader to Speak—Brigadier Beaslie Smith, Salvation Army leader from San Francisco, will address a special meeting of the Santa Ana army at 8 o'clock tonight at 214 North Sycamore. Brigadier Smith is territorial secretary for the west. Swearing in of "soldiers" will take place.

Other Salvation Army notables to be present are Col. and Mrs. A. D. Jackson, division commanders for Southern California, and Mrs. H. B. Collier, wife of the secretary for young people's work. The meeting is open to the public.

New Aide at State Income Tax Office

M. L. Pierovich, head of the state income tax office in Santa Ana, 408 West Fifth street, announced today he has secured Robert Walker, Santa Ana, as an associate.

Mr. Pierovich and Mr. Walker will be in their offices daily except Saturday afternoons and Sundays to assist the public in filling out income blanks. There is no charge for any service.

Find Death Due to Equal Negligence—A verdict of equal negligence was returned today in an inquest into the death of E. W. Trettin, 38, Westminster.

Mr. Trettin died in St. Joseph's hospital March 17 as the result of injuries sustained when the car he was driving crashed with a machine operated by Mrs. Gladys Heath, Midway City, on Seventeenth street in Westminster.

DEATH TAKES TINY BABY

OAKLAND, March 26. (AP)—Science has lost its fight for the life of Nancy Lee Vogt, whose weight at birth, estimated at 15 ounces, classed her as one of the world's tiniest tots.

Born prematurely and nurtured with utmost care in a hospital incubator, the baby appeared past the crisis of immaturity and well on the way to normal infancy when a change was noticed in her condition yesterday, grew rapidly pronounced and resulted in her death.

Dr. John W. Sherrick, who constantly attended the child, said death was due to immaturity and improper development and functioning of some of the vital organs. He added that anemia contributed.

Nancy Lee was born Feb. 2 to Mrs. Anne Vogt, nurse at the hospital where the baby spent its 50 days of existence in an incubator.

U.C.L.A. EDITOR IS OUSTED

LOS ANGELES, March 26. (AP)—Gilbert Harrison, crusading editor of The Daily Bruin, campus newspaper at the University of California at Los Angeles, was ousted from his post today by the student executive council.

Charging Harrison with using The Daily Bruin to spread his own opinions on student matters through colored news stories, the council divided 8 to 5 in voting his removal.

The young editor denied he had presented biased news accounts, but asserted he believed he had been privileged to use the editorial page to present his own views on campus issues. A student committee of three was appointed by the council to run the publication temporarily.

An Unfair Attack

THERE is a contemptible and illogical whispering campaign against Senator Borah by some of the old guard. He is being painted as a mere intra-party trouble maker—one who is "in more sympathy with the New Deal than with Republican principles."

Here is a man who has served brilliantly for 29 years as an outstanding Republican member of the senate. He has a right to promote his own candidacy and to discuss party questions publicly. And he has just as much right to say what Republican principles are as have some of the reactionaries who criticize him.

We suspect that the Idaho senator is saying a few things the old guard does not like to hear. In 1932 Borah reminded a cheering Republican audience in Chicago:

"Over ten million Republican voters left the party and went over to the Democratic party. Why did they go and how are we going to get them back? We cannot succeed in the coming campaign without them, and I venture to say that we will not get them back by putting into power those who drove them out. . . if they are sitting in the front row at the Cleveland convention and dominate the platform and name the candidate, that ten million never will come back and other millions will go with them."

Senator Borah has a clearer picture of the situation than his critics, we think. The registration figures in California alone should prove this. The old guard is rapping Borah because he has supported some of the New Deal measures for recovery and reform. It remains to be seen whether the average Republican voter thinks likewise.

A Costly Fever

DIG DOWN into your pockets and get ready to pay for a few more battleships—at $30,000,000 more or less per ship. For just as surely as the new naval arms pact was signed yesterday at London—just so surely does it open the door to another costly navy construction race between the world's great powers.

The new treaty completely removes restrictions on sizes of battle fleets. The only thing it limits is the size of the ships. Hence the 5-5-3 ratio established in 1921 between the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, is a dead letter. And Japan has announced that she expects to build a "pocket-size" navy that will equal the United States armada in fighting strength.

Under the circumstances, this nation no doubt will soon start laying new keels, with Great Britain by agreement keeping pace. President Roosevelt is a big-navy man and the trend of public sentiment seems to favor a powerful fleet with strong bases on the Pacific islands.

Indeed, the big navy movement has been growing since 1915. We now have double the number of enlisted men we had then, 200 per cent as many officers, and are spending three times as much on the naval budget.

This truly is a crazy world. Billions needed for ordinary comforts of life are invested in armaments for wars which we all deplore and which may bring ruin to western political and economic supremacy. Yet to disarm in the face of the war-madness which grips some of the rulers of Europe and Asia would be suicide.

Look Somewhere Else!

ANOTHER shattering blow to the ill-advised state prison farm plan has been given by the Orange county board of supervisors and the Santa Ana chamber of commerce. Both groups point out that establishment of a major convict colony near Costa Mesa would be detrimental to the area. Similar protests are expected to follow from other governmental and civic bodies.

The united front now being presented by Orange county organizations will do much to deter the state from locating the big penal institution at the site proposed, we believe. Indeed, state officials cannot fail to see the stupidity of placing a huge prison in the heart of the rich agricultural belt between the flourishing coast communities and Santa Ana. This entire region should be preserved for further development as farm and residential property.

Let the prison board find a suitable site elsewhere.

A Celebration Is in Order

WHEN a community grows in 50 years from a rural hamlet to a lusty prosperous city the size of modern Santa Ana it's something to crow about. So why not hold a civic celebration next May 20 to commemorate this 50th anniversary?

A real community birthday party would be fitting under the circumstances. It could be made into a gala affair, with Santa Ana playing host to its neighbors in Orange county and the rest of Southern California. It would cultivate a general spirit of goodwill and friendliness, and it would provide us all with the chance to blow off with due pride and proper ceremony over the accomplishments of the past 50 years.

Sounds like a grand opportunity for some wideawake civic organization to get busy and give the hometown a big boost.

Men and Beasts

IT WAS just a cat. So two San Francisco men poured whisky down its throat with a funnel, threw it against a wall, then tossed it out of a window, killing it. As a result, they yesterday were sentenced to serve 10 months in a San Francisco jail for cruelty to animals.

The revealing point in the above short story is that they "poured whisky down its throat with a funnel." We suspect that prior to torturing the cat to death, they had poured a liberal quantity of whisky down their own throats. Drunkenness often places man below the level of the brutes.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Nothing has become more standardized in the Manhattan mosaic than the dinner crowd in the so-called smartly intimate cafes. Even waiter captains seem stenciled. The orchestras play the same muted tunes and there's usually one noisy party out of bounds. As though seeking, ha, ha, obscurity there is the well-known actress, not playing at the moment, at a corner table with her uppity dog by her side. And there is the inevitable gentleman of affairs whom the tambourine-capped page boy is forever paging to the phone. These are expensive places. A simple dinner for four with no liquor wrecks a $20 bill. Pie with a dollop of ice cream 80 cents. And while they try to separate chaff from wheat by such tilts, the sprinkling of chaff is ever present. Mugs in Tuxedos and lemon-verbenas ladies who stick to gin neat.

But in the main an orderly, plushy pack. Murmuring in tight-lipped boredom. They merely toy with their drinks and peck at their food. Their object is to kill time and be seen, especially by the social chatter writers who never fail to look in a moment.

The marriage of Winfield R. Sheehan and Maria Jeriza, the opera star, has proved a domestic triumph that would delight even Kathleen Norris. After their European honeymoon, they returned to the telephoneless ranch house Sheehan had built in Hidden Valley, an hour's motor drive from Los Angeles. Sheehan is out every day chopping trees and watching his chicken incubators. And Jeriza in sunbaked putters about the garden. Their small dinner parties are folksy affairs where everybody plays games and is called upon for some special stunt. Jeriza contributes at least one song. Austria recently sent her four milk-white ponies.

Frank Sullivan has finally come down from the mountains. After hibernating in his native Saratoga bob sledding, wood sawing and cutting up at candy pulls, he is acclimating himself again to city life by easy stages. He has an apartment on seven Gramercy Park and by easy gradations expects to be north of 42nd street by mid-summer. Sullivan can stay put in the outland but in the metropolis is the No. 1 Fidget and Heaven's gift to the moving van people. A slack month when he has not moved at least once.

Another humorist, Robert Benchley, it is thought, may soon be permanently lost to New York. His time now is divided almost equally between Manhattan and Hollywood. And his increasing success as a movie player is more than likely to inspire a long term contract he cannot resist. On his present journey to the coast by boat he was accompanied by his 86-year-old mother, a lively lady who passed along a sense of humor to her son. Last year he took her to Europe for a brief stay. Benchley, who lives at Scarsdale, has two sons, one in Harvard, the other in Exeter.

Most retiring of the funny men perhaps is Will Cuppy, who writes of the love life of the two-toed sloth and to change his pace reads mystery novels. He is known as "The Hermit," and generally ducks the literary roundups. Most humorists eventually become exiles. The reason: Everybody expects them to be funny on all occasions and speak free at banquets. Mark Twain and Bill Nye saw but few people in their closing years. Will Rogers flew to his death getting away from constant demands. And Irvin Cobb is becoming more and more a recluse in the Santa Monica hills.

Thingamabobs: Dr. Paul de Kruif has a week of New York first nighting every season in full dress and then goes back to his Michigan woods and corduroy. . . . Martin Beck has crossed the ocean 200 times. . . . Harriet Factor eats one big meal a day—lunch. . . . Grover Whalen's the only metropolitan police commissioner to wear a button hole flower. . . . Margaret Illington's favorite room at Major Bowes' country place is just as she left it. . . . And her personal maid still sleeps in the room adjoining, just as she did for 14 years. . . . Owney Madden's ambition is for a secluded farm where he can raise pigeons.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The President's proposal for a Pan-American conference to ensure permanent peace in the western hemisphere has focused attention on what for many years has been one of the weakest links in Pan-Americanism.

It is the Pan-American Union, built with Carnegie millions and now used for nothing except diplomatic dances, the raising of crimson and blue cockatoos, and the personal peregrinations of Dr. Leo S. Rowe.

Dr. Rowe, a fastidious and inoffensive person, is director general of the Pan-American Union. In his hands rests the problem of cementing the cultural, economic and political ties of the 21 American republics.

These he steers to the best of his ability. But neither his ability nor his vision go further than distributing stereotyped slides of the Andes to women's clubs, holding lamb-stew luncheons for visiting dignitaries, and distributing baby grapes to the wives of diplomats on their birthdays.

What the Latin American diplomatic corps is secretly demanding—if anything is to come out of Roosevelt's Pan-American idea—is a shake-up of the fossilized union, and the appointment of an outstanding Latin American in the key position of director general.

HARVARD ALUMNI

Not long ago the Washington Merry-Go-Round disclosed that the Harvard Alumni Bulletin, official organ of the President's alma mater, was relegated to the servants' sitting-room in the White House.

Subsequently, the august Alumni Bulletin gently chided the President and raised the question of how it got banished to the kitchen. Admitting that all magazines in any home eventually get to the furnace man, it said:

"But we read them first, or look at the pictures anyway. Is it the same in the White House? Does the President find time to read the Bulletin before the banishment? Or—happy thought!—is the White House chef, himself, a Harvard graduate, albeit a thrifty one?"

Answering this question at a recent press conference, Mrs. Roosevelt explained that she had four means of disposing of magazines: (1) some are sent to the home library at Hyde Park; (2) some to Warm Springs; (3) some are thrown away; and (4) some are sent down through the White House.

"But only," Mrs. Roosevelt added, "after they have been read very carefully."

RELIEF FIGURES

Despite Roosevelt's request for only $1,500,000,000 for relief next year, actually it looks as if the total relief expenditure would be the same as this year—around $3,000,000,000.

The process of arriving at this figure is complicated, involving a half-billion-dollar discrepancy between the figures sent to congress by Roosevelt and those issued by the treasury on the same day.

In his relief message, the President said: "During the current fiscal year, the cost of relief actually paid out of the treasury will amount to approximately $3,500,000,000."

However, the treasury's daily statement for that day showed a total "relief and recovery" expenditure to date of $2,294,000,000; also that relief expenditures average $160,000,000 monthly.

On the treasury's own figures this would put the total relief expenditures on July 1 at $2,934,000,000—instead of $3,500,000,000, as outlined by the President—giving him an unannounced $566,000,000 balance with which to enter the coming fiscal year.

He has already admitted a carry-over of $1,000,000,000 from this year's work-relief fund. This extra saving would make the carry-over $1,500,000,000.

MYSTERIOUS HALF-BILLION A $500,000,000 treasury nest-egg is a very lush backlog for any administration, they point out, particularly in an election year. It could be used, for example, to increase "relief and recovery" grants in doubtful states. It would also come in handy around July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year, to keep down the deficit.

Also, they assert, it indicates that despite the President's apparent plans to curtail relief expenditures next year, actually he will not do so.

Anyway, the behind-the-scenes set-up on relief figures now is something like this:

Requested appropriation from Congress	$1,500,000,000
Admitted carry-over from this year	1,000,000,000
Undercover saving this year	500,000,000
Total	$3,000,000,000

Which puts next year's relief expenditures at just about the same total as the $2,934,000,000 probable expenditure this year.

YACHTING ROOSEVELT

One reason for Jimmy Roosevelt's yen for accompanying his father on the Florida fishing trip is that he is taking a course in navigation.

The Massachusetts state department of education shows that Jimmy is enrolled in a university extension course to learn how to pilot a yacht.

Speculation is that Jimmy is making another pass at the swanky Eastern Yacht club (Marblehead, Mass.) one of the seven organizations which blackballed his application for membership when he first came to Boston.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

After months of stemming the tide of job-seekers in the capital, Senator Hattie Caraway says: "Senators and representatives are just employment agents after all."

Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., who next week will take over the highest health office in the country, walks out of a $12,000 job as New York state's health commissioner. As surgeon general of the United States he will receive $9800.

Strong opposition has developed against a bill now before congress which would clamp down on divorce information from foreign countries. . . . Sixteen-year-old Dorothy Ramspeck, daughter of Congressman Robert Ramspeck of Atlanta, Ga., is putting her father's name in the papers by her own accomplishments on the stage. . . . Prized possession of Lyle T. Alverson, NEC director, is an old snapshot of Franklin D. Roosevelt aboard the S. S. George Washington on her historic voyage taking President Wilson to Paris.

WATER FROM SEA

To the editor: It looks as though our present impounding water system would at times prove inadequate. Even a remote possibility of a shortage of water should be viewed with alarm. Any suggestion that might prove even remotely possible should be welcome and be given mature consideration.

Some years ago one who purported to know stated that there was sufficient valuable chemicals in the ocean water to pay for purifying it. This would not be difficult to prove.

If the county would hire a few capable men it could easily be determined, at slight cost, if such a plan would be practicable on a large scale. There will be great expense in bringing the Colorado river here.

It would be my guess that a plant sufficiently large to purify an adequate supply of water could be installed at less cost than building dams with the pipe lines, and the maintaining expense would not be greater than lifting the water over the mountains.

If the ocean water is expensive it need be used only in an emergency. We also have at our door an unlimited power that only needs developing. A wave that will lift a battle ship represents an immense power and when that is multiplied by hundreds or more there is ample power to supply a large county. This can be done without question.

WEST COAST SHIPBUILDING RIGHT

(Long Beach Press-Telegram)

Pacific coast shipbuilding interests are modest in their suggestion that $30,000,000 worth of government contracts be granted this western region. As a matter of fact, this is only 10 per cent of the pending investment of federal funds in new craft, $225,000,000 for navy ships and $75,000,000 for merchant vessels.

The Welch-Johnson bill provides a 6 per cent differential in favor of western yards to offset the difference in costs of steel and other materials in the two localities.

Pacific coast shipbuilding plants have had no business of any importance since World war days. Their rehabilitation, which would be necessary under the proposed division of this work, is a consideration of large value to the nation, and in itself justifies the pending legislation at Washington.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

"The Best Thing Was Never to Have Been Born, the Next Best to Die Young"

ONE HEARS much these days of impending war. That a world conflict is inevitable. If not immediately then within a few years at most. The cynic remarks, with more or less logic, that mankind has always engaged in bloody strife, and hence he always will. You can't change human nature, you know. Peace efforts are the silly dreams of deluded reformers. War is man's normal condition. And much more mouthings of like sort.

This is the philosophy of despair, the blind drivings of soulless fate, the sullen rumblings of fatalism. Pessimism can sink no lower. If man is destined to slay his fellowman; if he prostitutes his abilities to self-destruction; if he makes the earth a shambles and God's love a mockery, then there is no end but madness. Then Schopenhauer was right: "The best thing was never to have been born; the next best, to die young."

In at least one particular the war fatalists are everlastingly wrong. They neglect the fundamental fact that no good deed can be wholly lost. Every forward step, every cherished hope, every upward reach, every touch with the Divine Hand leaves its indel-

Out to Ben Wollenberg's. To see the other fellows eat. The performance was on when I arrived, with Dan Adams master of sufficient monies. Those periodical sunlight feeds are becoming an institution for the Tustin neighborhood. You eat all you want and pay what you please, but it's rather a little alibi for a tight patron to get into. Sometimes they put a pig in the ground and surround him with hogs, and if a pig and convenient they get a calf, and if you are in the neighborhood and own any beef or pork maybe you won't. It's a good bunch. They pay for everything they use and use all of it. There is nothing like the wide open spaces to accelerate your appetite, and then the zip from old Saddle Back yesterday helped accentuate the appetite.

You would think I made the weather by the way complaints were filed with me Wednesday morning. Cold, yes! I'll admit it. But the ranchers were permitted to stay in bed all night, which means that the frost warning was not sounded, and isn't that something to be thankful for?

Santa Ana is getting ready to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation. I'm in favor of it. The event is of sufficient importance to receive appropriate recognition. We still have Bill Spurgeon, jr., who can tell us a lot about what his father told him, and W. H. was the daddy of this thriving little city. That was before it emerged from the wild oats and mustard fields. Now it's orange groves and walnut ranches and bean and barley fields, with a few lemons thrown in, and we need the lemons. Let's make it a wow.

I don't know whether the state is going to locate a prison in Orange county, in fact, I'll admit it. I know it won't be so far to go if a fellow has any tendencies in that direction.

There still remains a few hours for registration, but the time is gliding swiftly by. This is the last day, in fact, I'll admit it. In other words March 26—and that's this very day—is the last day you can register. We elect a President this fall. Thought I'd tell you. You might want to help.

My friend Elmer Heidt, who was so sick a few months ago he decided not to die, was out to the Ben Wollenberg feast yesterday noon. He approached the menu with the caution of a man who decided he did not want to go back to the hospital again, and his control was commendable.

When there is good food to eat and you want it and can refrain from taking it—that's what I call telling old Satan to go away back.

"Damon" Miller and "Pythias" Hanson found out I couldn't eat so they brought me over everything I wanted, and then invited me to the Breakfast Club. There is two good friends who would go to 'I for you, and I'm afraid they won't.

Met John Stanton, Tustin's voluninous chief of police. He was standing at one of the tables at the Ben Wollenberg feast. When I offered to throw in my support he sent me back for reinforcements. Well, I couldn't get any help as everybody wanted to eat, so I says to John you'll have to get along the best way you can. Then one of my friends comes along and tells me that John has always been able to take care of himself, and for me not to worry. Glad I got that news. I'll see him when I need help.

In a recent murder case in Los Angeles the murderer was suspected of having spent his money gambling. The prosecuting attorney's office sent out an investigating squad which reported it had visited all the gambling places and could not find any evidence. A few days prior to this event the chief of police, it is reported, made the statement there was no gambling in Los Angeles. There's a sour note some where.

If you want a job here is one open. George Raymer will not accept the office of secretary of the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Orange county for another term. But you better pick up some information as to compensation and other requirements of the job before you throw your hat in the ring. Raymer has served the Associated Chambers of Commerce not only as secretary but in other capacities for many years. He has served long and well. After a time men become weary of continuous civic contributions for which too often there is little gratitude. And as for compensation the position of secretary in this particular instance has been a bit flimsy. After all it's had that unselfish public contributions do not get adequate recognition
